

"It is better to forget the past because, if it is stirred, the civil war could break out again."

